Special Education

Faculty

Mitchell Beck (Chair, Barnard 22001), John Foshay, William Nelson, Joan Nicoll-Senft, Ernest Pancsofar (Dept. phone: 860-832-2400)

Department Overview

The quality of educational services for children and youth with exceptionalities resides in the abilities, qualifications, and competences of the personnel who provide the services (CEC, 1988). Consistent with the mission of the School of Education and Professional Studies (SEPS) of preparing leaders for service in our communities, it is the mission of the Department of Special Education to:

- prepare current and future educators to effectively meet the academic and social needs of individuals with disabilities;
- promote effective and equitable access to the general education curriculum for individuals with disabilities; and
- empower teachers to be leaders in their schools by developing, implementing, and evaluating research-based practices for ongoing school improvement.

Programs

Master of Science in Special Education

Strand A: For Students Not Seeking Cross Endorsement in Special Education With Certification in Other Areas of Education (30 Credits)

Program Rationale:

The Master of Science in Special Education is designed to prepare general education teachers to possess the knowledge, skills, and professional dispositions to develop effective teaching and learning environments for individuals with disabilities. This program track is designed for students who already hold teaching credentials in Connecticut. In this specialization students take course work designed to broaden and/or deepen their knowledge of the field. Completion of this program does not lead to a cross endorsement in special education. The curriculum for this program is aligned with the standards of the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC).

Program Learning Outcomes:

Students in this program will be expected to:

- demonstrate knowledge of historical foundations, classic studies, major contributors, and current issues related to special education;
- demonstrate knowledge of laws and policies that affect individuals with disabilities, their families, and their educational programming;
- promote practices that reduce the over-representation of culturally/linguistically diverse students in programs for individuals with disabilities;
- broaden and/or deepen their knowledge of individual learning differences, instructional strategies, and collaboration in special education;
- implement action research processes to contribute to improved special education services to individuals with disabilities;
and
- promote professional and ethical practices in the field of special education.

Master of Science in Special Education (36-37 credits)

Strand B: For Students Seeking Cross Endorsement in Special Education

Program Rationale:

The Master of Science in Special Education is designed to prepare general education teachers to possess the knowledge, skills, and professional dispositions to develop effective teaching and learning environments for individuals with disabilities. This program track is designed for students who have certification in elementary education or a 7-12 secondary subject certificate in biology, business, chemistry, earth science, English, history/social studies, mathematics, or physics. Strand B leads to a master’s degree and provides coursework that leads to a cross endorsement for either elementary or secondary (including middle school) education. Students in Strand B must have a current Connecticut teaching certification. The curriculum for this program is aligned with standards of the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) and meets certification requirements of the Connecticut State Department of Education.

Program Learning Outcomes:

Students in this program will be expected to:

- demonstrate knowledge of foundational issues in special education and their impact on the field;
- demonstrate knowledge of the development and characteristics of learners, individual learning differences, and appropriate instructional strategies;
- promote effective learning environments and social interactions for individuals with disabilities;
- demonstrate knowledge of typical and atypical language development, cultural implications of language development, and alternative approaches to communication;
• further their knowledge of instructional planning, assessment, and collaboration to address the learning differences of individuals with a wider variety of academic problems;
• implement action research processes to contribute to improved special education services to individuals with disabilities; and
• promote professional and ethical practices in the field of special education.

Master of Science in Special Education

Strand C: For Students Already Certified in Special Education (30 Credits)

Program Rationale:
This program is designed for students who already hold a certification in special education. In this specialization students take course work designed to broaden and/or deepen their knowledge of the field. The curriculum for this program is aligned with the standards of the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC).

Program Learning Outcomes:
• Students will demonstrate knowledge of historical foundations, classic studies, major contributors, and current issues related to special education.
• Students will demonstrate knowledge of laws and policies that affect individuals with disabilities, their families and their educational programming.

• Students will promote practices that reduce the over-representation of culturally/linguistically diverse students in programs for individuals with disabilities.

• Students will broaden and/or deepen their knowledge of individual learning differences, instructional strategies and collaboration in special education.

SPED 596 Designing Action Research in Special Education (Plan E) 3
SPED 597 Implementing and Documenting Action Research in Special Education (Plan E) 3

Post-Baccalaureate Certification in Special Education

Program Rationale:

This non-degree program is designed for students who, after receiving an undergraduate degree that did not lead to teacher certification (i.e., psychology, sociology, general sciences, human services, mathematics, business, liberal arts, etc.), want to pursue coursework leading to teacher certification in special education. The curriculum for this program is aligned with the standards of the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) and the certification requirements of the Connecticut State Department of Education.

Program Learning Outcomes:

Students in the program are expected to:

• demonstrate knowledge of foundational issues in special education and their impact on the field;
• demonstrate knowledge of the development and characteristics of learners, individual learning differences, and appropriate instructional strategies;
• promote effective learning environments and social interactions for individuals with disabilities;
• demonstrate knowledge of typical and atypical language development, cultural implications of language development, and alternative approaches to communication;
• demonstrate knowledge of instructional planning, assessment, and collaboration to address the learning differences of individuals with disabilities; and
• promote professional and ethical practices in the field of special education.

Course and Requirements:

30 hours of verified field experience with regular education students; 10 hours of verified field experience with exceptional learners.

Prior to acceptance into the Professional Program in Teacher Education (21 credits)

SPED 501 Education of the Exceptional Learner 3
SPED 502 Principles of Learning in Special Education 3
SPED 511 Behavioral/Emotional Disorders 3
SPED 512 Learning Disabilities 3
SPED 513 Developmental Disabilities 3
SPED 514 Cognitive Behavior Management and Social Skills Strategies 3
RDG 503 Developmental Reading in PK-12  3

After acceptance into the Professional Program in Teacher Education (19 credits)
SPED 515 Assessment in Special Education 3
SPED 516 Instructional Programming for Students with Exceptionalities 3
SPED 517 Instructional Methods for Students with Special Needs- Elementary 3
SPED 518 Instructional Methods for Students with Special Needs- Secondary 3
SPED 520 Student Teaching Seminar 1
SPED 521 Student Teaching in Special Education-Elementary (eight weeks) 3
SPED 522 Student Teaching in Special Education-Secondary (eight weeks) 3

Note: It is the student's responsibility to consult with their advisor on a regular basis since program policies and procedures are subject to change.

Students must be sure to consider prerequisite requirements before registering for courses. Numerical listing does not necessarily indicate correct sequence.

In addition to maintaining a 3.00 overall average, students must maintain a B- (2.70) average in special education courses to be recommended for certification.

The School of Education and Professional Studies requires students to complete a departmental performance assessment in order to qualify for student teaching and to complete the Professional Program. In addition, students are expected to abide by the standards outlined in the current Undergraduate Catalog for maintaining good standing in the Professional Program.

SPED 516, 517, and 518 may be counted toward a master's degree in special education.
