AGENDA

The seventh and final meeting of the University Curriculum Committee for the academic year 2014-2015 will be held on Wednesday, April 29, 2015 at 3:15 PM in VANCE 105. Copies of proposals with hyperlinks can be viewed on the Curriculum web site (http://www.ccsu.edu/curriculum: click the radio button under Agendas, Minutes, Reports, then on the icon for the appropriate agenda, and, where possible, use the hyperlinks to access the individual proposals). Alternatively, you may use the hyperlinks on the following electronic copy of this agenda.

Hyperlinks for most proposals are unavailable because the old database is being phased out. Where hyperlinks to course or program proposals are not available, changes are summarized under the agenda entry, and, in the case of program or course revisions, links are posted to the current catalog entry.

SCHEDULE OF MEETINGS

The schedule of meetings also can be found on the committee website at: http://web.ccsu.edu/curriculumcommittee/calendar.asp

<th>Proposal to add a Mission Statement to CCSU's General Education Program; Alignment of CCSU's General Education Program with the TAP and with NEASC Standard 4.</th>
<th>[GE] [Main]</th>

The mission of General Education is to ensure that all students are well and broadly educated in what are traditionally referred to as the arts and humanities, the sciences including mathematics, and the social sciences. The primary value of supplementing a professional education with an education in the traditional liberal arts & sciences lies in the preservation and advancement of human understanding and in fostering achievement in the arts. In addition to pursuing knowledge for the sake of knowledge and art for the sake of art, basic research that is freed from the necessity of serving particular vocational objectives has historically led to innovations that have had a significant impact on humanity. Not only does basic research have the potential to revolutionize industries, but on a very practical level, the skills and habits of thought developed in studying the traditional liberal arts & sciences are highly prized by many employers. Such studies cultivate the freedom to question conventional wisdom and narrow ideologies, and this freedom of thought lies at the very foundation of a free society.

<th>Proposal to poll the faculty regarding the size of General Education</th>
<th>[GE] [Main]</th>

</thead>

Proposal to poll the faculty regarding the size of General Education

1. On 2/14/2011 the Faculty Senate received a report from the Ad Hoc Committee on General Education reporting the results of the poll it conducted (FS 10.11.015B; available at the Faculty Senate’s website). They asked faculty to respond to the following statement: The General Education program should be re-designed.

   a. Respondents self-identified in the following categories:

   i. AAUP Full-time (166 respondents)
   ii. AAUP Part-time (31 respondents)
   iii. SUOAF-AFSCME (22 respondents)
   iv. Other (11 respondents)
b. Results:
   i. Overall: 61.3% of respondents agree or strongly agree

ii. AAUP Full-time: 65.6% of respondents agree or strongly agree

   c. Concern: in the 2010-11 academic year when the poll was administered, the official head count of full-time faculty was 440 (source: CCSU OIRA).

   i. Only 38% of full-time faculty responded

ii. Only 32% of full-time faculty responded with “agree” or “strongly agree.”

iii. Were those who are discontented with our current General Education program more motivated to participate in the poll?

iv. Would more faculty have responded if they had been given the option of saying whether our General Education program should be reduced in size?

2. Problem #1: by asking only about re-designing General Education, the poll was premature. Whether General Education is well designed depends largely upon whether it is well designed to achieve reasonable learning objectives. So a poll regarding the design of General Education should be informed by actual assessment data indicating how successful it is at achieving reasonable learning outcomes.

a. Solution to Problem #1: assess General Education prior to considering whether the program is well designed.

3. Problem #2: aside from achieving reasonable learning objectives, General Education is a supplement to the major, and so the reasonable size for the program depends upon how the faculty judge its importance relative to the importance of helping students to complete their majors efficiently.

a. Solution to Problem #2: poll the faculty on whether the General Education program should be reduced in size. See the proposal on the next page.

Draft of Poll on General Education

1. Select the category below that describes your position at CCSU.

o AAUP (Full—time)

   o AAUP (Part—time)

   o SUOAF—AFSCME

   o Other

2. Please respond to the following statements [i.e. on the scale, strongly disagree, disagree, neither agree nor disagree, agree, strongly agree]

a. The General Education program should be reduced in size. The CT State minimum for General Education is forty credits, so the average student should not have to take advantage of double-counting rules in order to complete the program in forty credits or close to forty credits.

b. The number of distinct requirements in the General Education program should be reduced.

3-6 credits of other courses, as approved by the appropriate department chair and the Community Engagement Committee using the Community Engagement course rubric.

(Optional and upon invitation only): The 2-credit course CEN/FYE 301, which may be taken more than once. The course is open only to students with a GPA of 3.0 and higher, and a nomination from a CEN course instructor.

Rationale for Revision:

• The minor, as it stood, was cumbersome and outdated. Some courses were rarely offered, and others required too many prerequisites for students to justify taking for a minor. The revised list removes those courses and adds more that truly reflect the breadth of community-engaged courses offered at CCSU.

• The range of credits was increased from 17-18 to 17-20 to allow students the option of additional courses and/or the CEN/FYE leadership experience.

• Because the minor is spread across many departments, the addition of a diversity/inequity requirement was inserted to ensure exposure to those critical community issues.

• The 300/400 level requirement was eliminated due to the interdisciplinary nature of the minor – allowing students to take a wider range of CE courses without having to take multiple prerequisites, thus making the minor accessible to more students.

• Lastly, the addition of two more required courses – CEN 201 (1 credit concurrent with CEN 200) and CEN 402 (Internship Seminar) adds both robust higher-level content to the minor, and a more cohesive, community-engaged focus – addressing the potential pitfall of just being a list of unrelated courses.

Educational Leadership Ed.D.

Program Rationale

The doctorate in educational leadership (Ed.D.) is designed for delivery to cohorts of full-time educational professionals on weekends, evenings, and during the summer. The Ed.D. is based on the premise that learning takes place through an integration of course work and experiences that stem from a clear conception of leadership, the knowledge base of the field, and a structure that allows doctoral students and faculty to collaborate on shared work improving education in the State of Connecticut.

The Ed.D. includes two distinct strands that support the learning needs of two different groups of educators. The PreK-12 strand has many innovative features and serves teachers and administrators in PreK-12 education who want to prepare for a variety of leadership positions: principals, lead teachers, department heads, curriculum and assessment specialists, assistant superintendents, and superintendents.

The higher education strand serves professionals employed in higher education institutions who aspire to a wide range of leadership positions in academic or student affairs at two- or four-year institutions.

Program Learning Outcomes

Prior to defending their dissertation proposals all doctoral students must document mastery of learning outcomes and show their ability to:

1. demonstrate an ethical and moral commitment to collaborative work that promotes positive learning for all members of the organization.

2. understand teaching and learning is at the heart of the organization and demonstrate the ability to foster best practice.

3. connect the immediate work of organizational improvement to the larger philosophical, political, and historical context, and the organization’s mission.

4. establish a commitment to social justice through their work and act in ways that promote social justice in their organizations.

5. utilize evolving technologies to improve organizations, enhance learning, and build institutional identity.

6. foster continuous organizational improvement grounded in the collection, analysis, interpretation, and application of data.

7. locate, interpret, and assess relevant educational research and apply it to both practice and the design and conduct of research.

8. document mastery of learning outcomes in an individually defined area of specialization (higher education strand only).
Admissions

To be considered for admission to the Ed.D. in Educational Leadership, applicants must have earned a master's degree in an appropriate discipline or professional field and have professional goals that are consistent with the goals and beliefs of the program.

Admission to the PreK -12 strand of the program is available in alternate years for a cohort of 25 students. The deadline for submission of applications is December 1.

The following minimum criteria have been established for admission into the PreK-12 strand of the Ed.D. Program:

7. If selected as a finalist, a satisfactory interview with the admission committee.

Admission to the higher education strand of the program is available for a cohort of 25 students. The deadline for submission of applications is October 1.

Admission Process

The application packet for each Ed.D. strand is available through the Ed.D. Program website. Admission decisions are made by a faculty admissions committee.

Program of Study

The Ed.D. program includes four major components: (1) an 18 credit required core in educational leadership; (2) a 15 credit specialty area; (3) a 16 credit series of inquiry-oriented seminars; and (4) the dissertation component (14 credits). These components and the credits required in each component are summarized below.

Component I

Core in Leadership (18 cr.)

Component II

Specialty area (15 cr.)

Component III

Inquiry Seminars (16 cr.)

Component IV

Capstone: Dissertation and Dissemination (14 cr.)

Total: minimum 48-63 cr.

PreK-12 Strand

Component I establishes the foundational core of the program with particular emphasis in educational leadership and teaching and learning. Five core courses are required of all candidates: EDF 700; EDL 701, 702, 705 (6 cr.); and EDT 700. All courses in the core are open only to PreK-12 strand Ed.D. students.

Component II includes a specialty area of the student's choice. Two specializations are available:

- Administrative Leadership. This specialization is for students who aspire to administrative positions in public schools. It could lead to certification for intermediate administrator (a State of Connecticut certificate) and/or the superintendency.

- Curriculum and Literacy. This specialization is for students who plan leadership careers in PK-12 settings, such as reading, and curriculum specialists. It includes courses in literacy, curriculum, and instructional leadership.

Component III of the program includes research courses, field-based inquiry projects, and a series of seminars designed to help students understand the processes of inquiry. Component III leads into and facilitates Component IV.

Component IV includes completion of the dissertation and dissemination of the results to appropriate audiences. Special course work in research and ongoing inquiry projects will culminate with the completion of the student's dissertation. More information about all of these components is available on the program website.

Please note that students in the PreK-12 strand take 10 credits during each of the first two summers in the program, and additional courses during evenings and some Saturdays during the first two academic years. During the third year and beyond, the focus is on dissertation requirements, including some on-campus study during the last summer or winter session of study.

Higher Education Strand

Component I establishes the foundational core of the program with particular emphasis on the history and context of higher education, teaching and learning in higher education, leadership, organizational theory, and resource management. Six courses are required of all candidates: EDF 700, EDL 705 (3 cr.), 730, 731, 732, and 733. All courses in the core are open only to Ed.D. students in the higher education strand.

Component II is the 15 credit individually defined area of specialization developed early in the program and assessed in the pre-dissertation portfolio review.

Component III of the program includes research courses, field-based inquiry projects, and a series of seminars designed to help students understand the processes of inquiry. Component III leads into and facilitates Component IV.

Component IV is the completion of the dissertation and dissemination of the results to appropriate audiences. Special course work in research and ongoing inquiry projects culminate with the completion of the student's dissertation. More information about all of these components is available on the program website.

Candidate Assessment

The curriculum of the Ed.D. program is aligned with applicable professional and accreditation standards and with the program learning outcomes. During the second year of the program, each Ed.D. candidate completes a summative electronic portfolio which uses a variety of evidence (artifacts, evaluations, projects, and reflections) to document mastery of program learning outcomes. Prior to being granted the Ed.D. degree, each candidate completes a dissertation.

Individually Defined Specialization (15 cr.)

During the first year of the program, each higher education strand candidate will work with a designated faculty member with relevant expertise to propose a coherent specialization that supports their career goals which must be approved by the strand coordinator. Learning in the specialization will be assessed in the pre-dissertation portfolio review.

Academic Rationale

The higher education strand of the Educational Leadership Ed.D. program at Central Connecticut State University is intended to provide graduates with an understanding of theory and research, teaching and learning, and leadership and to develop skills in research and inquiry that enable them to apply this knowledge to solve persistent educational problems in higher education. Using a cohort learning design, the program will support individuals who aspire to a variety of leadership responsibilities in higher education, enabling them to improve institutional productivity and provide effective leadership and service to their institutions and the wider community of stakeholders.

To meet changing societal expectations, higher education needs to change in ways that are not yet well-defined. Shifting expectations, evolving technologies, a changing clientele, and a challenging fiscal environment will require creative and nimble action in higher education institutions. This program seeks to prepare higher education leaders who understand teaching and learning, are committed to creating effective and socially just learning environments, and have the understanding of research and organizational inquiry skills required to strategically lead complex institutions of higher education in new directions.

Because candidates will study with a variety of higher education professionals, all candidates will develop an understanding of the many elements that are required to create an effective student-centered, learning-centered higher education institution. Organizational change in higher education is easy to discuss but difficult to implement; as such, candidates will engage in actual organizational learning and change activities throughout the program to facilitate their integration of theory and practice and to strengthen their understanding of the realities of leadership in higher education.

Demand rationale

The higher education strand is intended to serve mid-career professionals employed at two or four-year higher education institutions who seek to enhance their leadership capacity. Over the past 10 years, we have had numerous requests for doctoral programming from this audience and our focus groups this spring indicate that there is a strong demand for the program from staff at both community colleges and four-year institutions.

2. A minimum of one course apiece is required in Creative Nonfiction, Fiction, and Poetry.
3. No repetition of courses is allowed, with the exception of ENG 378: Creative Writing: Special Topics.
4. Students will be better served if they take a full sequence of three courses in poetry, fiction or creative nonfiction, but are not required to do so. The three tracks are listed below, with courses for each track listed in the sequence in which they would be taken, with prerequisite and cycling information, so as to facilitate advanced planning.
5. As a way of introducing themselves to Creative Writing from a broader perspective and exploring various genres in which they might wish to write, students are encouraged to take ENG 265 Introduction to Creative Writing: A Survey of Forms to fulfill 3 credits of the 6-credit Skill Area I requirement in General Education.

Bachelor of Arts, Major in International Studies (39 credits)

International Studies is an interdisciplinary program designed to build student expertise in particular world regions and/or about diverse international issues, including globalization, diversity, migration, international law, conflict resolution, economic development, environmental policy, and the roles of gender, race, language, and class in international contexts.

The International Studies BA program is oriented to produce individuals competent to understand the interrelated nature of global phenomena and confident in their membership in a community of global citizens. Each undergraduate is also to specialize in a particular world area or a particular global theme. The learning outcomes of the program concern the student’s ability to express this knowledge in formal essays and presentations of research projects and policy positions. To further these overarching goals, IS undergraduate program graduates will:

1. demonstrate sensitivity to the global diversity of cultural values, beliefs and worldviews;
2. demonstrate proficiency in the history, culture, and language(s) of a particular world region;
3. demonstrate knowledge of the interconnectedness of global phenomena;
4. critically approach social, political, and economic cultural issues of a global nature;
5. collect and analyze data on projects of a global scope or which relate to a particular world area;
6. produce and defend a scholarly paper (senior project), based on primary research, that focuses on a single world area or links diverse world areas in a global theme;
7. demonstrate international competency, mastery of theory, and appropriate use of relevant literature, data, evidence, and argument in the scholarly paper (senior project).

A BA degree in International Studies prepares students for a range of career opportunities in government, in non-profit foundations and NGOs, in for-profit entities, and in a wide range of other institutions and enterprises offering services transnationally or otherwise working in global environments.

Modern Language Requirement
Demonstration of competency in reading, writing, speaking, and understanding of a single modern language (in addition to English) equal to completion of the 226 level, as determined by a CCSU instructor of the language, the Chair of the Department of Modern Languages, or a CCSU faculty member designated by the Director of International Studies. The modern language should be appropriate to the area or theme and selected in consultation with the advisor.

Minor requirement
A minor is required of International Studies majors. Students who do not meet the language requirement must take an appropriate language minor. Students who meet the language requirement without doing a language minor may select a non-language minor in consultation with the faculty advisor. For students with some language proficiency, but who do not satisfy the language requirement, additional language courses may be taken to satisfy the requirement without doing the language minor, if the student so chooses. The faculty advisor can guide the student in how best to satisfy both the minor and modern language requirements.

Master of Science in International Studies (30 credits)

Program Rationale:

The Master of Science in the International Studies program educates students in several key areas of the world: Middle East, Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America, and Global Studies (focused on a global theme). The program prepares specialists to work in governmental and non-governmental organizations within and outside of the United States to address issues related to the global human experience.

The International Studies Master’s program is designed to produce individuals competent in understanding the interrelated nature of global phenomena, confident in their membership in a community of global citizens, and capable of fulfilling various professional positions related to the field of International Studies. To further these overarching goals, the learning outcomes of the program IS graduate program concern the student’s ability to express these competencies in formal essays (including a thesis or capstone project) and presentations of research projects and policy positions. Graduates of the Master’s program will:

1. demonstrate tolerance of and insights into the diversity of cultural values, beliefs and worldviews;
2. demonstrate advanced proficiency in the history, culture, and language(s) of a particular
3. demonstrate detailed knowledge of the interconnectedness of global phenomena;
4. critically approach social, political, and economic cultural issues of a global nature;
5. collect and analyze data on several projects of a global scope or which relate to a particular world area;

7. demonstrate international competency, theoretical mastery, use of literature, data, evidence, and argument at an advanced level in the scholarly paper.

A MS degree in International Studies prepares students for a range of career opportunities in government, in non-profit foundations and NGOs, in for-profit entities, and in a wide range of other institutions offering services transnationally or otherwise working in global environments.

In addition to the regular admission requirements, an applicant for the MS in International Studies program must send a resume and an essay that addresses his/her past experiences, career goals, and the region in which he/she wishes to specialize (select from African, East Asian, European, Latin American, Middle Eastern, and Global Studies). Each application must be sent electronically or by mail to the International Studies Director.

Early applications are encouraged for full consideration. The admission deadline for spring semester is November 1, and May 1 for fall semester.

The International Studies program requires that all students have a level of proficiency in reading, writing, speaking, and understanding of a single modern language other than English, preferably relevant to the area of geographical specialization, equal to the completion of the 226 level. Fulfillment of this requirement will be determined by a CCSU instructor of the language, the Chair of the Modern Language Department, or a CCSU faculty member designated by the director of International Studies.

In addition to the language requirement, IS students without significant life or study experiences abroad are strongly encouraged to participate in a study abroad program, whether a course abroad or a semester or summer exchange. Information about study abroad programs is available at the Center for International Education in Barnard Hall.

NOTE: No more than nine credits at the 400 level, as approved by the graduate advisor, may be counted toward the graduate planned program of study. Initially, on acceptance to the program, students are assigned to the International Studies Curriculum Coordinator for advice. As soon as possible, students will be assigned an advisor appropriate to their area or global specialization. This advisor will normally serve as the faculty member supervising the student's thesis or special project.

I believe the revision of prerequisites is intended to apply to TM 464, and that no renumbering of the course is intended, but in case I err, I post here the link to ETM 464.]

How does the program address CT workforce needs and/or the wellbeing of CT society/communities? (Succinctly present as much factual evidence and evaluation of stated needs as possible)

The National Dance Education Organization (NDEO) reviewed research on dance education in K-12 settings. According to the most recent research review by NDEO, in a Fast Response Survey System (FRSS, July, 2013) it was reported that 43% of elementary students have access to dance education and of that 43% who receive dance, 36% receive dance training from teachers in physical education and only 7% receive their training from dance specialists. In a previous FRSS survey (FRSS, 2009), reported data indicated 44% of schools taught dance as part of the PE program, 36% incorporated it into the music program and others incorporated it into some other aspect of the curriculum. In conclusion, dance education taught by dance specialists has increased, but needs to continue to increase to truly see the benefits of incorporating dance education into K-12 schools.

Connecticut Dance Teacher Certification was approved in July 1, 2008. At that point, the state department of education, appointed Central Connecticut State University to serve as host to this dance teacher certification. Currently, CCSU services all those students who are interested in dance cross-endorsement, DSAP candidates, and those interested in the Formal Pathway to CT Dance Teacher Certification. These are currently the only ways to receive a dance education certification. With the development of the Dance Education major, students would be able to apply as an undergraduate student for their initial certification programs seeking their teaching certification (K-12) in Dance Education.

Due to the fact that CCSU is the host of the Dance Teacher Certification in the state, it would seem nature to offer a Dance Education major for undergraduate students. Currently, students have to be certified in another content area and pursue a dance cross-endorsement. Often times, this means completing an additional 30 credits on top of the already required 130 credits for their content area certification.

Having more graduates leave with a dance teacher certification would allow more opportunities for K-12 children to be exposed to dance education by those trained and certified in dance education. To truly see the benefits of incorporating dance education into K-12 schools, certified dance education teachers should be delivering and leading the way to using dance to positively impact student achievement, teacher satisfaction, and overall school culture (NDEO, 2013). A summary of research results from NDEO (2013) is provided in the attached brochure; the complete report can be downloaded from www.ndeo.org/evidence.

According to the State of Connecticut department of education as of December 2013, statistics include: 48 people have received a unique endorsement in dance through various pathways. The total can further be... broken down into; 8 holding the initial educator certification, 9 holding the provisional educator certification, 8 holding the professional educator, 1 holding the durational shortage arts permit: renewal, 22 holding part time adjunct arts instructor permit, and there are 12 pending 110 dance certification applications. Keeping in mind the fact that the dance teacher certification in Connecticut was established in July 2008, the number of certified teachers warrants further program development.

These numbers will only increase now that there is an opportunity for students to graduate each year with a dance teacher certification. This justifies the continuing development of dance education in the state of Connecticut, more specifically at Central Connecticut State University; we are the only state institution that hosts the certification. Furthermore, there is a need to expand and include the Dance Education major at CCSU to provide more opportunities for students interested in pursuing dance teacher certification.

Dance education within K-12 Schools is currently occurring in Connecticut and there are numerous research studies (www.ndeo.org/evidence) that support dance education in schools. In Massachusetts it was reported that “integrating dance and chemistry helped students answer questions on the state achievement exam. They closed their eyes and visualized their dance to retrieve information about chemical reactions” (p. 18). Within Connecticut numerous high schools are integrating dance and some schools have students identify a major, such as dance. Below is a sample of Connecticut High School dance majors or dance courses offered. Many of these schools would be feeder schools for dance majors at CCSU. Here is the sample of Connecticut High Schools:

- Greater Hartford Academy of the Arts currently has 107 dance majors.
- Educational Center for Performing Arts currently has 56 dance majors.
- Cooperative Arts and Humanities High School currently has 130 dance majors; numerous dance classes are offered (taught by a CCSU Alumni from the Formal Pathway to Dance and current CCSU adjunct faculty).
- Kinsella Magnet School of Performing Arts currently has 35 dance majors in the 7th and 8th grades, as well as 26 dance majors in the 9th and 10th grades; additionally, all students (N = 600) take at least one dance class; numerous dance classes are offered (taught by two CCSU Alumni – one Alumni from the Formal Pathway to Dance and second Alumni in Physical Education with a cross-endorsement in dance).
- Arts at the Capitol Theatre Performing Arts Magnet High School currently has 26 dance majors, of which 8 are seniors (2 seniors have already committed to attending CCSU); 9 incoming freshmen have identified their major as dance.
- Norwich Free Academy offers dance classes (taught by a CCSU Alumni in elementary education with a cross-endorsement in dance); 238 students signed up for dance classes; however, only 150-180 students can be served due to only one dance teacher who offers 6 classes a semester that meets 4 times a week.
- Numerous private schools in Connecticut offer dance courses, for example Ms. Porters offers 4 courses, as well as an after school dance program and “Dance Workshop", which carries the same credit as participating in an athletic varsity team sport.

We currently have the curriculum that supports hosting dance certification for the state of Connecticut. It is our responsibility, as the host in the state of Connecticut, to lay the proper foundation to allow for the apparent growth and development of Dance Education as illustrated in the past five years with the steady growth, since Dance Education has been in place. The time has come that warrants having a proper Dance Education major in place at Central Connecticut State University.

The CCSU Department of Physical Education and Human Performance dance courses, are based on dance education supporting Connecticut's formal pathway to dance teacher certification and the cross endorsement. Our department is considered the "host" university for Dance Education in the state of Connecticut. Our mission is to provide experiences which will enable students to become highly qualified future dance educators.
In alignment with the national dance standards, the program is committed to teaching dance education as our primary focus. It embraces personal development, diversity, wellness, technical dance training, choreography, knowledge and skills. CCSU is also the host to both national and international companies for the benefit of Connecticut.

The proposed dance education major program currently does not exist as such; however, the required courses do exist for the Formal Pathway to Dance Teacher Certification, Dance Cross Endorsement and dance minor. The department is requesting that in addition to the dance cross endorsement and dance minor we will offer a separate undergraduate degree (BSED) in Dance Education, designed specifically to target prospective students who have an interest in pursuing a career in the area of dance education not within physical education. The program curriculum has been carefully developed to educate and train students in a variety of areas of dance education and, as a result, to obtain employment in for public and private elementary, secondary and institutions of higher learning. Students will also be well prepared to pursue advanced degrees in arts administration and business, as well as employment in the commercial dance field including but not limited to; private studios, convention coordinators and choreographers.

How does the program make use of the strengths of the institution (e.g. curriculum, faculty, resources) and of its distinctive character and/or location?

The Dance Program at Central Connecticut State University makes full use of the Welte Stage, one of the finest performing arts resources in the state. CCSU hosts various dance performances including nationally acclaimed modern/ballet companies (i.e. Jennifer Muller/The Works, Paul Taylor 2, Martha Graham Junior Company, Hubbard Street of Chicago) These opportunities are made affordable to the Greater Hartford/ New Britain communities and provide entertainment, educational programs, conferences, elevating educational programs in the performing arts for a diverse demographic. Welte also hosts the Albano's Ballet Company Nutcracker every holiday season where 1500 local public school students are bussed in to watch the performance. Welte also allows our students to perform with and learn from these renowned individuals. Use of the Welte Auditorium enables the development of a relationship between the university and the community and widens the ground base for dance education and the performing arts not only on campus, but also throughout New England.

The dance program focuses on community outreach by going into school systems, retirement facilities, the New Britain Museum, etc. and participating in local and regional collegiate dance festivals. The dance program also brings professional dance companies onto the campus in order to bring culture and recognition of the arts to the university. The most recent and largest community outreach activities included the Annual Connecticut High School Dance Festival held at CCSU in October of 2012 and March 2014. This annual festival was the first of its kind to be held in New England. The goal of the high school dance festival is that it is a statewide festival in which participants will enhance their dance education by attending a full day of classes and an evening dance gala. The festival is opened to high school faculty, students and invited professional guests throughout the tri-state area. Nationally acclaimed dance professionals, educators and performers teach over twenty master classes in a variety of dance forms. The high school dance festival not only provides each individual high school student the opportunity to experience professional dance classes, but to also find comfort in a college community where in many instances, a college career may not be anticipated. The dance festival is an opportunity for high school students to fit in and belong in a non-traditional major, and it creates an outlet for the non-traditional student. The non-traditional student may feel more comfortable in the artistic community, there for having students who would not normally attend college, attend. Attendance and interested has steadily increased from over 200 attendees at the first annual high school dance festival to over 300 attendees at the second annual festival. This ongoing event is already scheduled for October 15, 2015, and CCSU has recently partnered with the most prestigious National Dance Education Organization (NDEO).

Please describe any transfer agreements with other institutions under the BOR that will become instituted as a result of the approval of this program (Please highlight details in the Quality Assessment portion of this application, as appropriate)

We accept all applicable general education coursework that is required in the new dance education major. We will also determine transfer credits on an individual basis after review of the course description and syllabus. Transfer credits will only be accepted with a passing grade of a B or higher. Currently, there is an articulation agreement with Naugatuck Valley Community College.

Please indicate what similar programs exist in other institutions within your constituent unit 2, and how unnecessary duplication is being avoided

Geographically, CCSU offers prospective students in the Central Connecticut area an opportunity to study dance education at a state school, which is more affordable than private institutions in the area. In addition to The University of Connecticut, there isn’t a dance education major program in the CSU system (Eastern, Western, Southern). Additionally, our curriculum is in alignment with the National and Connecticut dance content standards. This allows our students to get a core understanding of each topic. Students will be required to engage in a variety of field experiences prior to their student teaching and will enroll in a full semester of student teaching, which includes an 8 week placement at the elementary level and an additional 8 week placement at the secondary level. During the student's 4-years at CCSU, students will need to complete field experience hours in school setting, as well as professional company setting and event coordinating. Participating in lecture demonstrations and observation in public school at all levels.

CCSU has an increasing number in DSAP/Cross Endorsement candidates and graduates (Justifying the need to pursue the Major for Dance Education). Currently, at CCSU the only means of receiving a dance teacher certification, as a traditional student, is in the form of a cross-endorsement. As previously noted, students have to be certified in another content area to pursue a dance cross-endorsement. Often times, this means completing an additional 30 credits on top of the already required 130 credits for their content area certification. This would offer a solid dance major program, which a student can focus on becoming a dance educator without burden of another teacher certification.

Although the curriculum for the new dance education program would include some classes that a Physical Education teaching major would take, the new program would include far more dance content specific courses within their initial degree program.

Please provide a description/analysis of employment prospects for graduates of this proposed program

Although, the proposed dance education program does not currently exist we have a number of successful graduates of the formal pathway and cross endorsement in dance education. On July 1, 2008, when the formal pathway to dance teacher certification was approved for the state of Connecticut. Our students have been employed as.

- Dance Director at the secondary level and at magnet schools
- Dance Teachers at the elementary and secondary levels.
- Dean of students/Dance Teacher at the secondary level.
- Graduates have been hired at the university level as adjunct professors.
- Additionally, students have been admitted to masters programs.

Cost Effectiveness and Availability of Adequate Resources
(Please provide a one-paragraph narrative on the attached MSExcel Pro-Forma Budget)

2 Constituent units are: the Connecticut Community College System, the Connecticut State University System, Charter Oak State College, and the University of Connecticut
Although the proposed major currently does not exist, the required curriculum and facilities are in place. Currently one full-time faculty in dance education would continue as the Dance Education Program Coordinator. As the need to offer more dance classes on a regular basis, every fall and spring, then an additional full-time faculty who specializes in dance education would need to be hired. Currently approximately 50% of the dance courses are taught by part-time faculty. However, that percentage is significantly reduced when examining the overall dance education major. Within the major, students would take also science and additional pedagogy based courses, which are taught by full-time faculty. Overall in the proposed dance education major, approximately 85% of the major would be taught by full-time faculty.

SECTION 3: PROGRAM QUALITY ASSESSMENT

Learning Outcomes - L.O. *(Please list up to seven of the most important student learning outcomes for the program and concisely describe assessment methodologies to be used in measuring the outcomes. - Practical examinations in courses that have a practicum component to assess ability to perform and peer teach. During field experience will have written evaluation as well as a practical examination to assess skills.
- Performance/Choreography – Students will be required to perform on a semester basis as well as annually present/perform a solo as well as group choreography. Followed by self and peer assessment.
- Exit Portfolio – During student teaching, mirrors TEAM program. This will assess their ability to work in public school setting and carry out day to day responsibilities that relate to the specific dance objectives noted above.

*See attached for additional qualifications

How many new full-time faculty members, if any, will need to be hired for this program?
Currently one full-time faculty in dance education would continue as the Dance Education Program Coordinator. As the need increases to offer more dance classes on a regular basis, every fall and spring, then an additional full-time faculty who specializes in dance education would need to be hired. We will use the faculty that currently exists for the initial year of the new program implementation (2015-2016); when numbers increase with the new program, a full time faculty member would need to be hired for the 2016-2017 academic year.

What percentage of the credits in the program will they teach?
The full-time faculty would teach the required 12 credits per semester, which would include all Dance program courses. The current faculty member would also be teaching Dance program courses; only approximately 1-2 dance program courses would be taught by specialized dance professionals in the field. Having the content and field expertise by specialized dance professionals is necessary and important for delivering quality dance education.

What percent of credits in the program will be taught by adjunct faculty?
Looking at the overall program as a whole, approximately 15% of the program would be taught by adjunct faculty at this time; however, once an additional full-time faculty is added this percentage would be significantly reduced.

Describe the minimal qualifications of adjunct faculty, if any, who will teach in the program?
Adjunct faculty will have a minimum requirement of a master's degree, as well as have a current CT certification in dance education or significant experience in performing arts. A current adjunct faculty member is a current public school teacher in dance education at the Cooperative Arts and Humanities High School, which is just one example of a feeder school into the CCSU Dance Education.

New Program for Dance Education at Central Connecticut State University

BACKGROUND

Summary

Central Connecticut State University has applied for license of a program in Dance Education leading to a Bachelors of Science in Education (BSED) degree. The University currently offers a Dance Minor for all interested majors, as well as a Cross-Endorsement in Dance Education for those who are already pursuing a BSED degree in another content area. There are no initial undergraduate programs that meet the needs of an individual seeking a major and teaching certification in Dance Education in the state of Connecticut. The program will prepare graduates to become qualified, dedicated dance educators for public and private elementary, secondary and institutions of higher learning, as well as community and civic minded professionals. Graduates of the program will acquire hands-on experiences in the area of teaching dance education, as well as embracing personal development, diversity, wellness, technical dance training, and choreography. Graduates will also acquire experiences developing, preparing, and performing in university, state, and national level performances. These experiences are invaluable for aspiring dance educators to pass on their knowledge and experience. The program will prepare students for teaching dance education, K-12.

Need for the Program

The National Dance Education Organization (NDEO) reviewed research on dance education in K-12 settings. According to the most recent research review by NDEO, in a Fast Response Survey System (FRSS, July, 2013) data from the U.S. Department of Education reported that 43% of elementary students have access to dance education and of that 43% who receive dance, 36% receive dance training from teachers in physical education and only 7% receive their training from dance specialists. It is imperative to have qualified dance teachers delivering quality instruction to ensure positive benefits of dance within schools. According to the SAT College Entrance Examination Board, data from their Student Descriptive Questionnaire, students who study dance scored an average of 36 points higher on verbal and 15 points higher on math SATs.

Connecticut Dance Teacher Certification was approved in July 1, 2008. At that time, the Connecticut State Department of Education, appointed Central Connecticut State University to serve as the only host to the dance teacher certification. Currently, CCSU services all those students who are interested in dance cross-endorsement, DSAP candidates, and those interested in the Formal Pathway to CT Dance Teacher Certification. These are currently the only ways to receive a dance education certification. With the development of the Dance Education major, students would be able to apply as an undergraduate student for their initial certification programs seeking their teaching certification (K-12) in Dance Education.

Due to the fact that CCSU is the only host of the Dance Teacher Certification in the state, it is imperative to offer a Dance Education major for undergraduate students. The only way for students who do not already hold an undergraduate degree to obtain a Dance Teacher Certification is to be certified in another content area and pursue a dance cross-endorsement. Often times, this means completing an additional 30 credits on top of the already required 130 credits for their content area certification.

According to the Connecticut State Department of Education, as of December 2013, dance educator statistics included: 48 people have received a unique endorsement in dance through various pathways. The total can further be broken down into; 8 holding the initial educator certification, 9 holding the provisional educator certification, 8 holding the professional educator, 1 holding the durational shortage arts permit: renewal, 22 holding part time adjunct arts instructor permit, and there are 12 pending dance certification applications. Keeping in mind the fact that the dance teacher certification in Connecticut was established in only July of 2008, the number of certified teachers warrants further program development.

The above cited statistics will only increase now that there is an opportunity for students to graduate each year with a dance teacher certification. This justifies the continuing development of dance education in the state of Connecticut, more specifically at Central Connecticut State University. CCSU is the only state institution that hosts the dance education certification. Furthermore, there is a need to expand and include the Dance Education major at CCSU to provide more opportunities for students interested in pursuing dance teacher certification. Offering this major will offer CCSU to positively impact enrollment numbers at the undergraduate level.

Dance education within K-12 Schools is currently occurring in Connecticut and there are numerous research studies (www.ndeo.org/evidence) that support dance education in schools.
In Massachusetts it was reported “integrating dance and chemistry helped students answer questions on the state achievement exam. They closed their eyes and visualized their dance to retrieve information about chemical reactions” (p. 18). Within Connecticut numerous high schools are integrating dance and some schools have students identify a major, such as dance. Below is a sample of Connecticut High School dance majors or dance courses offered. Many of these schools would be feeder schools for dance majors at CCSU.
Here is the sample of Connecticut High Schools:

- Greater Hartford Academy of the Arts currently has 107 dance majors.
- Educational Center for Performing Arts High School in New Haven currently has 56 dance majors.
- Cooperative Arts and Humanities High School in New Haven currently has 130 dance majors; numerous dance classes are offered (taught by a CCSU Alumni from the Formal Pathway to Dance and current CCSU adjunct faculty).
- Kinsella Magnet School of Performing Arts in Hartford currently has 35 dance majors in the 7th and 8th grades, as well as 26 dance majors in the 9th and 10th grades; additionally, all students (N = 600) take at least one dance class; numerous dance classes are offered (taught by two CCSU Alumni – one Alumni from the Formal Pathway to Dance and second Alumni in Physical Education with a cross-endorsement in dance).
- Arts at the Capitol Theatre Performing Arts Magnet High School currently has 26 dance majors, of which 8 are seniors (2 seniors have already committed to attending CCSU); 9 incoming freshmen have identified their major as dance.
- Norwich Free Academy offers dance classes (taught by a CCSU Alumni in elementary education with a cross-endorsement in dance); 238 students signed up for dance classes; however, only 150-180 students can be served due to only one dance teacher who offers 6 classes a semester that meets 4 times a week.
- Numerous private schools in Connecticut offer dance courses, for example Ms. Porters offers 4 courses, as well as an after school dance program and “Dance Workshop”, which carries the same credit as participating in an athletic varsity team sport.

Curriculum

We currently have the curriculum that supports hosting dance certification for the state of Connecticut. It is our responsibility at CCSU, as the host in the state of Connecticut, to lay the proper foundation for a Dance major and continue the growth of Dance Education. The time has come that warrants having a proper Dance Education major in place at Central Connecticut State University.

The CCSU Department of Physical Education and Human Performance dance courses, are based on dance education supporting Connecticut’s formal pathway to dance teacher certification and the cross endorsement. Our department is considered the “host” university for Dance Education in the state of Connecticut. Our mission is to provide experiences which will enable students to become highly qualified future dance educators. In alignment with the national dance standards, the program is committed to teaching dance education as our primary focus. It embraces personal development, diversity, wellness, technical dance training, choreography, knowledge and skills. CCSU is also the host to both national and international companies for the benefit of Connecticut.

The proposed dance education major program currently does not exist as such; however, the required courses do exist for the Formal Pathway to Dance Teacher Certification, Dance Cross Endorsement and dance minor. The department is requesting that in addition to the dance cross endorsement and dance minor that we be able to offer a separate undergraduate degree (BSED) in Dance Education, designed specifically to target prospective students who have an interest in pursuing a career in the area of dance education not within physical education. The program curriculum has been carefully developed to educate and train students in a variety of areas of dance education and, as a result, to obtain employment in public and private elementary, secondary and institutions of higher learning. Students will also be well prepared to pursue advanced degrees in arts administration and business, as well as employment in the commercial dance field including but not limited to; private studios, convention coordinators, choreographers, and community enrichment programs.

Additionally, we accept all applicable general education coursework that is required in the new dance education major from Community Colleges and other State Universities. We will also determine transfer credits on an individual basis after review of the course description and syllabus. Transfer credits will only be accepted with a passing grade of a B or higher. Currently, there is an articulation agreement with Naugatuck Valley Community College.

Geographically, CCSU offers prospective students in the Central Connecticut area an opportunity to study dance education at a state school. There is not another dance education major program in the CSU system (Eastern, Western, Southern). Additionally, our curriculum is in alignment with the National and Connecticut dance content standards. This allows our students to get a core understanding of each topic. Students will be required to engage in a variety of field experiences prior to their student teaching and will enroll in a full semester of student teaching, which includes an 8 week placement at the elementary level and an additional 8 week placement at the secondary level. During the student’s 4-years at CCSU, students will need to complete field experience hours in school setting, as well as professional company setting and event coordinating. Participating in lecture demonstrations and observation in public school at all levels.

CCSU has an increasing number in DSAP/Cross Endorsement candidates and graduates (Justifying the need to pursue the Major for Dance Education). Currently, at CCSU the only means of receiving a dance teacher certification, as a traditional student, is in the form of a cross-endorsement. As previously noted, students have to be certified in another content area to pursue a dance cross-endorsement. Often times, this means completing an additional 30 credits on top of the already required 130 credits for their content area certification. This would offer a solid Dance Education major, which a student can focus on becoming a dance educator without burden of another teacher certification.

Although, the proposed Dance Education major does not currently exist, we have a number of successful graduates of the formal pathway and cross endorsement in dance education. The formal pathway to dance teacher certification was approved on July 1, 2008 for the state of Connecticut. In that short time our students have been employed as:

- Dance Director at the secondary level and at magnet schools
- Dance Teachers at the elementary and secondary levels.
- Dean of students/Dance Teacher at the secondary level.
- Graduates have been hired at the university level as adjunct professors.
- Additionally, students have been admitted to masters programs.

Faculty

As an academic department within the School of Education and Professional Studies, the Department of Physical Education and Human Performance is dedicated to the achievement of the missions of the School and the University. The university mission states that Central Connecticut State University is a community of learners dedicated to teaching and to scholarship. As an integral part of Central Connecticut State University’s history and traditions, the faculty in the Dance Education program embraces the university and school’s mission and commitment to encourage the development and application of knowledge and ideas through education, research and community outreach programs. Guided by the purpose of preparing teachers for service in diverse communities, it is our mission to provide coursework and experiences which enable students to become qualified, dedicated dance educators for public and private elementary, secondary and institutions of higher learning, as well as community and civic minded professionals.

Although the proposed major currently does not exist, the required curriculum and facilities are in place. Currently one full-time faculty in dance education would continue as the Dance Education Program Coordinator. As the need to offer more dance classes on a regular basis, every fall and spring, then an additional full-time faculty who specializes in dance education would need to be hired. Currently, approximately 50% of the dance courses are taught by part-time faculty. However, that percentage is significantly reduced when examining the overall dance education major. Within the major, students would take also science and additional pedagogy based courses, which are taught by full-time faculty. Overall, in the proposed dance education major, approximately 85% of the major would be taught by full-time faculty.

Thus, looking at the overall program as a whole, only approximately 15% of the program would be taught by adjunct faculty at this time. Having the content and field expertise by specialized dance professionals is necessary and important for delivering quality dance education. Adjunct faculty will have a minimum requirement of a master’s degree, as well as have a current CT certification in dance education or significant experience in performing arts. A current adjunct faculty member is a current public school teacher in dance education at the Cooperative Arts and Humanities High School, which is just one example of a feeder school into the CCSU Dance Education. With program growth, an additional full-time faculty would be warranted, which would also significantly reduced the need for part-time faculty.

Learning Resources

The dance program focuses on community outreach to enhance not only the learning of students, but also foster community partnerships. The dance program currently goes into school systems, retirement facilities, and the New Britain Museum to name a few. These partnerships and community outreach will only increase with more students and a dedicated Dance Education major.

The dance program also brings professional dance companies onto the campus in order to bring culture and recognition of the arts to the university. The most recent and largest community outreach activities included the Annual Connecticut High School Dance Festival held at CCSU in October of 2012 and March 2014. This annual festival was the first of its kind to be held in the Northeastern Region. The goal of the high school dance festival is that it is a statewide festival in which participants will enhance their dance education by attending a full day of classes and an evening dance gala. The festival is opened to high school faculty, students and invited professional guests throughout the tri-state area. Nationally acclaimed dance professionals, educators and performers teach over twenty master classes in a variety of dance forms. The High School Dance Festival not only provides each individual high school student the opportunity to experience professional dance classes, but to also find comfort in a college community where in many instances, a college career may not be anticipated. The dance festival is an opportunity for high school students to fit in and belong in a non-traditional major, and it creates an outlet for the non-traditional student. The non-traditional student may feel more comfortable in the artistic community; therefore, having students who would not normally attend college, attend. Attendance and interest has steadily increased from over 200 attendees at the first annual high school dance festival to over 300 attendees at the second annual festival. This ongoing event is already scheduled for October 10, 2015, and CCSU has recently partnered with the most prestigious National Dance Education Organization (NDEO).

Facilities

The Dance Program at Central Connecticut State University makes full use of the Welte Stage, one of the finest performing arts resources in the state. CCSU hosts various dance performances including nationally acclaimed modern/ballet companies (i.e. Jennifer Muller/The Works, Paul Taylor 2, Martha Graham Junior Company, Hubbard Street of Chicago) These opportunities are made affordable to the Greater Hartford/ New Britain communities and provide entertainment, educational programs, conferences, elevating educational programs in the performing arts for a diverse demographic. Welte also hosts the Albano’s Ballet Company Nutcracker every holiday season where 1500 local public school students are bussed in to watch the performance. Welte also allows our students to perform with and learn from these renowned individuals. Use of the Welte Auditorium enables the development of a relationship between the university and the community and widens the ground base for dance education and the performing arts not only on campus, but also throughout New England.

Fiscal Note

Although the proposed major currently does not exist, the required curriculum and facilities are in place. Currently one full-time faculty in dance education would continue as the Dance Education Program Coordinator. As the need increases to offer more dance classes on a regular basis, every fall and spring, then an additional full-time faculty who specializes in dance education would need to be hired. We will use the faculty that currently exists for the initial year of the new program implementation; when numbers increase with the new program, a full time faculty member would need to be hired; the increase in matriculating students in the major will justify the need to hire a new tenure-track position.

Accreditation:

The proposed Dance Education major will align with the National Dance Association content area standards, National Dance Education Organization standards, as well as the Connecticut State Dance Standards.

The proposed major will be housed in the Department of Physical Education and Human Performance in the School of Education and Professional Studies (SEPS) at Central Connecticut State University. Teacher Education programs in SEPS are accredited through the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), which is now the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP). Thus, the Dance Education major will be reviewed and go through state and national accreditation.
