CentralPipeline – What’s Changing?

CentralPipeline is a portal – a doorway to access online systems, announcements, and resources. There are four main components of CentralPipeline (match the numbers below to the numbers in the picture to see where these items are in each version of CentralPipeline):

1. WebCentral – Banner Web: register for classes, pay bills, check grades, view transcripts, view schedules.
2. Blackboard Vista: access course materials, discussions, quizzes and tests posted by your professors.
3. Announcements: personal announcements are targeted specially to you; campus announcements are for everyone.
4. Resources: links to administrative offices and other information.

Current CentralPipeline – everything is “behind the door.”
You must log in first with your BlueNet account to access online systems, announcements and resources.

New CentralPipeline – we’ve “opened the door.” Now announcements and resources are right on the home page. When you need to access an online system, click on the link then log in with your BlueNet account.
