ANXIOUS TO HELP ANTI-DRY MOVEMENT

Conn. Liberty League Wants to Aid National Liberal Alliance.

That the Connecticut Liberty League is desirous of co-operating with the National Liberal Alliance, which has been engaged for several weeks in taking a referendum on the "wet" and "dry" question throughout the state, is the substance of a letter received by Edward Kearnsley, Connecticut director of the alliance, from Frederick L. Neube of Meriden, vice-president of the league.

"As chairman of a committee which is working for the return of good beer and light wines!" Mr. Neube's letter reads. "I thought that it would be a good idea to write to you to see if our organization could cooperate with yours in the important work it is doing.

To Make "Dry" An Issue.

"We have already visited several Connecticut cities in our campaign, and intend to extend the scope of our work so that all cities will be visited and enough enthusiasm aroused to make the modification of the Volstead Act a political issue.

"When the nomination and election of senators and congressmen come before the different parties we will get those candidates to pledge themselves for modification of the Volstead Act, so that the people may eventually secure good beer and light wines without federal interference."

Mr. Kearnsley said yesterday that the alliance would provide speakers for the numerous rallies which the league plans to hold throughout the state. The alliance has been busy in Connecticut for several weeks, and there are now representatives of that organization in every county and the largest cities.

Will Petition Congress.

The distribution of ballot boxes and the collection of ballots will continue for at least two more months. The ballots are to be collected regularly, and will be presented to the next Congress.
