CRIME WAVE DUE
TO PROHIBITION,
SPEAKER SAYS

New York, June 17.—(AP) — Col. Edward Bryant, president of the Pullman National bank, Chicago, told the Woburn club dinner guests tonight that prohibition is one of the main causes of the present crime wave.

"Revenue denied the government from the liquor trade would shortly reduce income taxes," he said. "This same revenue is now diverted into the hands of bootleggers. Bootleggers are doing their best to prevent reconsideration of the prohibition law." He also said the crime wave is partly due after the war conditions. The Woburn club is composed of those born or who have lived in Woburn, Mass.
